BRITAIN GIVES IL DUCE MONTH

Must End War in That Time or Face Further Action, Geneva Hears

GENEVA, Oct. 19—Great Britain will give Premier Benito Mussolini until the end of November to halt his invasion of Ethiopia, according to rumors in League of Nations circles today.

Then, if the league's economic and financial sanctions have failed to arrest the advance of the Italian troops in East Africa, the British are expected to ask the league council to reconvene and study further sanctions—"further sanctions" necessarily meaning sanctions of a military nature.

Would Use Fleet

The British as yet do not desire to go this far. They hope the sanctions presently being undertaken in Geneva and the conversations going on in London, Paris, and Rome will halt Il Duce.

But if they fail, Britain—with full league approval—will be ready to use the great fleet she has assembled in the Mediterranean for carrying out league sanctions.

And she hopes, she will be aided in this by France and by the French fleet.

It was stressed, however, that league approval and French support now are essential to such action by Britain. The action will be pressed by the end of next month if Il Duce by then has not checked his advance into Ethiopia.

Dave Harris, a negro, was found dead under a pile of brick. As the severe shock, one of the series of more than 60 in the past week, rocked the city, chimneys swayed and fell; building walls collapsed and heavy plate glass crashed.

The shock that brought heavy damage to Helena was felt in nearly all sections of Montana, in Yellowstone Park, Wyo., in Idaho and to the west as far as Seattle, Wash.

JURY SPARES ZENGE'S LIFE

26 - Year - Old Emasculation Slayer Voted Life Term in Illinois Prison

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—For his mad, uncontrolled jealousy Mandeville Zenge, 26-year-old Missouri carpenter, today faced a bleak future behind penitentiary walls.

A jury found him guilty last night of the strange emasculation-murder of his successful rival for the hand of his childhood sweetheart, fixed the punishment at life imprisonment.

His aged father shook as if with age when the finding was read. Other relatives from his native Missouri hills wept and wrung their hands, but this enigmatic young man whose wild emotions led him to perpetrate the strange and horrible crime, received the verdict without so much as the flicker of an eyelid.

His only reaction was annoyance at being awakened from a sound nap on a hard bench in the cell outside the courtroom, as word came that the jury was ready.

He stalked into the courtroom, tall, straight, tight-lipped, heard the verdict, and stalked out with the bailiffs.

Taken back to the jail the night attendant, asked the love-mad youth what the verdict was. Zenge shrugged his shoulders nonchalantly, answered: "I got life."

He entered his cell, retired, and immediately dropped off into a sound sleep.

Many Visit New Office Of Herald

Many visitors to the Pumpkin show in its final day were taking advantage of "open house" at The Herald office, touring the plant, watching intertypes and press in operation, and obtaining a general idea of the operation of a newspaper.

The Herald's new quarters, 210 N. Court-st, has been attracting much attention all week.

Pretty floral tributes from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Southern Ohio Electric Co., and Brehmer Greenhouses were received.

Here's a Pumpkin show visitor who likes just about everything. His letter reads:

"I visited your plant Wednesday and bought a copy of The Herald. I think it is one fine newspaper. Its scope is quite surprising for a small city paper."

"Your Pumpkin show is about the best thing I've ever seen. It is a more complete exposition than some large fairs I have seen this year."

"The people of Circleville must be okay-dokey. I noticed in the baby parade that the folks lining the streets applauded impartially for colored and white babies. One of the mothers was so cute she applauded her instead of the baby. Hot dog!"

"I never knew before that Circleville was so fortunate as to be both an industrial and yet an agricultural center. Most towns are either one or the other and so suffer from seasonal let-downs."

"Well, I certainly enjoyed my half day spent in your town and wish I could have remained for your Elks club dance."

Yours sincerely,

LEWIS CARL DAVIS, Milford Center, Ohio."

About 50 employees of the Lazarus store, Columbus, were Pumpkin show guests of Mary May Haswell Friday evening. Many of them had never attended a Pumpkin show before and all had a good time. Miss Haswell fed them pumpkin pie, fitting for the occasion, at her home.

Stoutsville's fine high school band journeyed to Circleville Friday and took part in the Industrial and Character parades.

W. S. Gearhart is the possessor of a fine picture of the fruit display in the 1916 Pumpkin show. He is shown with his aides, Willard Justus and I. A. Jones. The picture was also published in the magazine of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Co.

James O'Dell of Stoutsville won the trophy for having the best coon dog at the Lapcaster fair last week.

Mangers of the fancy work display, experienced through long service, announced today there were nearly 400 entrants in the exhibition, and termed it the best in years. The results are found in today's Herald.

GOOD LUCK HOLDS

Exhibits Praised by Many Visitors.

The thirty-second annual Pumpkin show is scheduled for a hilarious conclusion late tonight after a four-day series of activities. As usual, the wind-up will go far into the morning with merriment prevailing.

Barkers on the midway, spiels for medicine shows and lunch stands will be getting in their best "icks" tonight, trying to take off the final dollars until next Pumpkin show. For nearly all of the concessions Saturday is the "money day." They hope to break even the first three days, then make their money on the final day of the show.

Crowd Comes Early

The crowd started to invade the center of the city early Saturday and was still coming fast at noon. The big feature of the afternoon was to be the pet parade, looked forward to by big and little. This evening the Old Vehicle tail-end.

Friday's crowd was another gigantic one. All the space filled by machines on Thursday evening was again demanded to care for the great influx. Automobiles on the Scioto trail north of the city were reported to be traveling two abreast into town. Later in the evening they were still two abreast, going the other way.

Good Weather Prevails

The show has been blessed with splendid weather so far. Rain Friday morning didn't mar spirits of anyone. Skies were overcast early Saturday but it seemed that "Pumpkin show luck" would again hold out.

Many veteran show visitors declare the exhibits this year surpass any they can remember.

MAYOR'S COURT ACTIVITY SCENE

Perry Rhoden, 27, giving his address as near Greenup, Ky., was bound to the grand jury under $1,000 bond Saturday morning in police court on a charge of larceny.

The charge was filed by Sherrid Wolfe, also of Kentucky, and alleges Rhoden took $40 from him while they were occupying a room together in the south end. Mayor Cady committed Rhoden to the county jail until bond can be arranged.

Roy Kuder, Kingston, was fined $100 and costs and his driving rights suspended six months for driving an auto while intoxicated. He was ordered to the county jail until the account was settled.

Kuder was arrested on Mount-st police said, after his car had struck another auto.

EDITORIAL

What does Halloween mean and should it be celebrated is the question in the minds of the people today. Some people say emphatically no, and some say enthusiastically yes.

Every year at this time, appearing in many papers are the don'ts and do's of the Witch's night, also warnings of the consequence of certain practices.

Halloween in the past meant Holy Eve. It was a time set aside to honor the memory of all saints. About thirteen centuries ago pagans celebrated November 1 as all Saints' Day. Then spirits, both good and evil, were believed to be on earth.

Even after the pagans adopted Christianity, they still carried on many of their customs, and so the Halloween activities of today are ones which originated centuries ago.

Halloween, the evening of October 31, for young people is a time for gaudy and pranks, a time to be witches, ghosts, and fairies. For others Halloween is just a night before the day of hunting their property, and washing windows.

This occasion calls to the minds of many the building of bonfires, cracking of nuts, bobbing for apples floating in tubs of water, telling fortunes and ghost stories, throwing corn and soaping windows.

I say, yes, we should celebrate the occasion. If you do not think so go out that night with a party of friends who are "tackling." The crisp wind blowing through the trees, the brightly colored leaves falling all around you.

It is a grand feeling. A feeling that Mother Nature is beautiful, the world is a "swell" place, and that life is worth living.

Question: Is the Pumpkin Show an asset to Circleville?

GAIL DAUENHAUER, freshman: The Pumpkin Show promotes goodwill between Circleville and other nearby communities. It tends to bring more fame to Circleville, as well as more money for charity.

The exhibition work gives many people, old and young, a chance to show the worth-while things they can do.

SOPHOMORE HOME ROOM 17: The Pumpkin Show is an asset because it tends to make the farmers work harder to raise better crops.

It brings money to Circleville by renting space.

It increases business and gives the business men a chance to display their merchandise.

It brings people together, and makes the farmers more Circleville-conscious. It creates general good feeling.

ROSEMARY HAMMEL, junior: The Pumpkin Show is and has always been considered by the merchants of Circleville an asset. They base their belief on the fact that during the week of Pumpkin Show the stores of Circleville remain open during both day and evening.

At this time extra help is needed in the stores, assuring us of more employment. We may say that merchant sponsors the Pumpkin Show and the Pumpkin Show in return benefits him.

FAYE ELLIOT, junior: As a citizen of Circleville, I oppose having Circleville Pumpkin Show.

It should not be carried on because it clutters up the streets and they remain dirty for days after the affair.

School children spend the money that they need for school supplies for side shows and rides. People who are perhaps on relief or people who need money for necessities at home will foolishly spend that money, which they may have saved, and live in poverty for the next few weeks.

It is a moral liability because of the increased number of drunks, etc.

ANNE THACHER, senior: People from all corners of the state come to the Circleville Pumpkin Show. This brings "pecunia" to Circleville which would not have found its way here otherwise. It also gains Circleville popularity and notoriety.

EDNA SHAW, senior: I believe the Pumpkin Show is an asset to the citizens of Circleville.

This affair is not only a customary and enjoyable event but has an educational value if one will look at it in that manner.

The Pumpkin Show benefits the community hotels. People come from other states to see the fair and they must have some place to stay.

The assembly program which was held Monday morning proved to be very inspiring. The speaker of the assembly was the Reverend George Troutman of the Lutheran Church.

His talk was centered around the topic "Nature and its Relation to God."

HILARITY RULES E. M. S. INITIATION

With mussed hair and no cosmetics, dresses wrong side out, shoes on wrong feet, football heroes with baby bottles, papers circulating around telling of these wonderful (?) specimens of humanity, are a few of the spectacles seen by persons who came to school Tuesday morning. It was part of the results of the E. M. S. initiation the night before.

A dinner, consisting of creamed chicken in patties, buttered potatoes, peas, waldorf salad, hot rolls, tea and pumpkin pie with whipped cream was served by Ann Denman, Jessie Dresbach, Alice Griner and Mary Ellen Maxey.

The initiates first showed their ignorance by being unable to answer questions on English grammar and literature.

Then much "dirt" was learned when the initiates were forced to answer questions by use of the "electric chair."

The initiation committee included Tillie Davis, Jane Littleton, Marjorie Mader and Anne Vierboom.

The newly initiated members are Wahnite Barnhart, Dorothy Beatty, Eleanor Brown, Ruby Chafin, Nana Cooper, Emily Gunning, Richard Harman, Donald Henry, Clark Hunsicker, Burn Jones, Kate Moore, Virginia Phillips, Thelma Piper, Pauline Reed, Ruth Robinson, Evelyn Ward and Lucille Weaver.

William Ammer, president of the club presided at the meeting and welcomed the new members into the organization.

Then followed the informal, but thorough, initiation.

The new members walked downtown on crutches, following the informal initiation. The meeting was closed after the old and new Hi-Y boys had joined in a lunch at Ebert's Soda Grill.

Dick Plum, president of the club, presided at the meeting. Mr. Regier, advisor, aided in taking in the initiates.

Mr. Cress, Mr. Day and Mr. Jewett were guests.

REAL JAILBIRD LOVES KITTEN

Blue, the cat, and Chirps, the bird

This is the story of two jailbirds, one a real jailbird in the Folsom prison, at Folsom, Cal. Jailbirds as a class, say criminologists, have no love for cats. But this jailbird, Chirps by name, has more than love for another jailbird, a kitten called Blue. The kitten and the bird, a linnet, were born in the prison and took a liking for each other. So much so that the two jailbirds live together, eat together and sleep together.

Household Arts

Here is your chance to have butterflies about you even on dull wintry days. This block in simple applique—the butterfly flower, and leaf are each one patch—enhanced by a touch of embroidery—makes a delightful quilt. If you care to use up your scraps of material, you can make each butterfly and flower a different color. The design is equally effective on a scarf or pillow so you can have your entire bedroom in matching accessories.

In pattern 5293 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 210 N. Court-st., Circleville, Ohio.

"An ancient philosopher once said to a friend of his, 'I am always strong when I am near you.' On the road of life there is always need for such helpful friendships. It is great to be a helpful friend, the kind of Upper Road friend that folks will be glad to meet because of your friendly interest your radiating personality, and your unselfishness. Your presence will be as helpful and exhilarating as the sunshine. A woman who held many important positions said the greatest compliment ever paid her was when her mother said to her one day, 'It always seems like seeing the sunshine to see you.' If you choose to follow the Upper Road and follow your Master closely you will become that kind of a friend." from Katherine Logan. The church stands for this ideal of friendship. Go to church tomorrow. Take a friend.

To be true to one's best nature; to give place in one's life to it; to find together what no one can find alone; to discover, as the ancient adoring habit of the race; to requite the Love that will not let one go; to feed that best within one without which life would be a poor thing; to be in the company of one's fellows; to see one's social duty in relation to life's increasing responsibility—a group of worshipping believers, God's idea for the world—that is the value of church attendance. Reformation Sunday, November 3, will be observed this year by thousands of Protestants who are in the midst of one of the gravest crises ever experienced by the Christian church. The church-state struggle in Germany has entailed conflicts of conscience between the Christian and the citizen.

The 250th anniversary of the revocation of the Edict of the Nantes falls on October 23rd. It is interesting to note that whereas 250 years ago thousands of French refugees found asylum in Germany and England, today France is receiving thousands of Jewish refugees from Germany and hundreds of non-Jewish exiles are scattered all over Europe. As for the fate of all religious believers in Russia, it is comparable to that of the Waldensians a hundred and fifty years ago.

The Ohio Council of Churches is conducting its eleventh annual Prince of Peace Declamation Contest. In the ten previous contests 17,000 Ohio boys and girls have delivered peace messages before audiences aggregating more than 500,000. The influence of this wide spread discussion can hardly be estimated as a factor in the education program in behalf of world peace. Winners of the contests receive cash prizes plus scholarships in various Ohio colleges.

The communicant membership of the Presbyterian church in the United States is now 1,959,923 according to the annual statistics of the church recently published. The number of ordained clergymen on the rolls of the Presbyteries is 9,901. Contributions of the local churches totalled $35,718,531. Of this amount $24,785,978 was used for local congregational expenses.

SCIENCE NEEDS MONEY

ONE of the most serious evils resulting from the trend to restrict all expenditures of money is interruption of the work of scientific men and institutions. This fact recently was called to attention by Dr. Lawrence V. Redman, of the American Chemical Society.

"What I would emphasize," said Dr. Redman, "is the necessity of continuity of our research program is we are to insure the financial gains we have a right to demand, and if we are to attain those higher things of life that can come only with health and freedom from drudgery."

Unquestionably this appeal is logical. Great as have been the achievements of science, on every hand are evidences of need of further knowledge. Even in Dr. Redman's own advice as to the method of insuring continuity of research is indicated one of the primary ends toward which the skill and wisdom of thinking men should be directed. He said: "Plainly, such stabilization can come only through a policy of laying by during a period of prosperity, funds to be employed during a period of depression."

On the other hand, if the bright light of science should search out a means of stabilization so that there should be no period of depression after every period of prosperity, our people immediately would provide themselves with the living conditions they have a right to demand and would come at once into a large degree of health and freedom from drudgery. Already science and discovery have provided the means to free the world from poverty and drudgery if an equitable means of dividing and distribution of the products of labor could be found and adopted.

THIS WOULD END WAR

A UNIVERSITY head has made the revolutionary proposition that governments in the future protect youth by drafting only men past 50 for combatant troops in time of war.

In theory there is much to be said for his proposal. The idea of making cannon fodder of young men, upon whom the future of nations depends, is not altogether sensible, particularly when it is remembered that wars are generally started by men over 50 years of age. Is not young blood more essential to national progress?

There would be no more wars if the nations of the world would enter into a pact making men under 50 exempt from military service. There will never be such a pact because all pacts, including those sending millions of young men to horrible deaths, are made by men over 50. But if such a pact were possible, the men over 50 would quickly declare permanent world peace. Persons who must fight their own battles prefer to talk peace.

Of course the proposal could not be put to practical use. Youth is better able to stand up under the rigors of war; it can fight better and it succumbs less readily to disease and fatigue. In time of war nations and their own old men depend upon youth. While youth fights, suffers and dies, the men past 50 are claiming the honors and profiteering.

When you are lonely, and want the doorbell to ring, try to take a bath.

The objection to inalienable rights is that one must fight so hard to keep them.

A chaperone never has to apologize for going to sleep.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. A. SHEPARD, Famous Bridge Teacher

MASTERING BRIDGE (32)

NO BID should have two meanings. Avoid serious misunderstandings with partner by agreement upon the meaning of any call possible to understand in more than a single way. Unless better instructed, some players will bid two of a suit, merely because fulfillment of that contract will yield game. If this is done, how is partner to know when you expect a slam and want his co-operative bidding? Every experienced player knows that a part game score requires a better hand for an opening bid than needed to make the same call at love score. The reason is a simple one. Opponents will overcall a low bid which will yield game quicker than they will a low bid that cannot possibly yield game. Any efficient partner will keep bidding open at an advanced score, unless he has a worthless hand. The majority of good players will not make an opening bid of 2 at an advanced score unless the same call would be made at love score.

There is comparatively little procedure with which some player fails to disagree. Any statement here as to proper procedure therefore means correct practice of the majority of our leading experts. An opening bid of two obligates partner's response. Lacking a minimum of one quick trick, respond with 2-No Trumps. If worth showing, bid your long suit next time. Do not immediately support partner's suit call without at least 4 trumps and a minimum of one quick trick. He will keep bidding alive. Immediately support may cause overbidding with many holdings.

Having at least one quick trick, there are three possible responses to the opening call of two:

1. Show a biddable suit.
 2. Support upon 4 of partner's suit.

3. Lacking both a biddable suit and 4 cards of partner's suit, bid 3-No Trumps, to show the quick trick. Partner may be bidding a 4-card suit. In that case he needs you to hold 4 trumps also. Three of partner's suit, even when headed by Ace, K or Q, may prove disappointing to partner. Prefer showing your own biddable suit to at once supporting upon only 3 trumps headed by a high honor. Unless you really have scattered no trump strength, it will be better to support partner on 3 of his suit headed by a high honor than to bid 3-No Trumps.

The Romance Racket

MARIE BLIZARD

READ THIS FIRST:

Fun, parties, pretty clothes and beauty are things unattractive Carol Kennedy had never desired until she looked into the eyes of Dr. Owen Craig, fiancé of her cousin, Kathy Prentice. Kathy is marrying Owen for social prestige alone. When Carol, an orphan, comes into a vast fortune, she suddenly decides to leave her old home in Connecticut and seek freedom and happiness in New York. Isabel Bronson, an old school chum, helps Carol to buy proper clothes and takes her to her first cocktail party where she meets Gary Crandall, a playboy. Acting on a whim, he takes her to a beauty shop from which she emerges an attractive girl. Knowing nothing of her wealth, he helps her to meet Manfred Morris, theatrical producer, who gives her a part in a Broadway show. But Carol does not care for the theater and Owen helps her obtain a temporary job as office nurse with a colleague, Dr. Harding. Carol evades Gary's proposal of marriage but scolds herself for showing an interest in Owen. During Kathy's absence in Europe, a Miss Van Cleve, a patient of Dr. Harding, calls and shows an interest in Carol when she finds she knew her mother years before. Dr. Harding leaves town and assigns Carol as companion nurse to Miss Van Cleve for observational purposes. Carol meets Horton Van Cleve, Miss Van Cleve's nephew, when she goes to the old-fashioned Van Cleve home, and distrusts him at once. At a dance with Gary, a mutual friend refers to Carol's two-million-dollar fortune in front of Gary much to her dismay.

"NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY!"

CHAPTER 30

"HOW ABOUT IT, Carol? Let's see a show this week. I sold a bond and I want to celebrate," Wayne persisted.

"Sorry," she said shortly. "I'm all dated up this week. Let it go, Wayne, and when I'm free I'll let you know."

"Say, do I detect a cold shoulder? Sorry, I didn't mean to interrupt or barge in." He was plainly so hurt that Carol was sorry for him.

"Of course, you didn't do either of those things. I'm really busy and I'm really going to let you know when I'm free." Maybe Wayne didn't like her just for her money and surely he would never have upset the apple cart by his disclosure.

When he had left, Carol didn't look at Gary. She was afraid to. If Wayne knew about her money, it was certain that Gary had. Bitterness made a hard little lump in her throat. She wished that she could disappear from that dining room like a ghost.

Gary didn't speak either. He called for the check and silently helped her on with her coat. With her head high, she walked ahead of him.

"Do you mind walking home?" he said when they were outside.

She shook her head and he fell in step with her.

"This changes everything," he said, and when she didn't answer, "at least if what he said was true."

"Is the news a surprise to you?" she asked quietly. She didn't realize that her question might be an insult or hurt him as it did.

"What do you think?" he asked in his jaunty manner.

"I don't know." Her answer was spoken in a whisper.

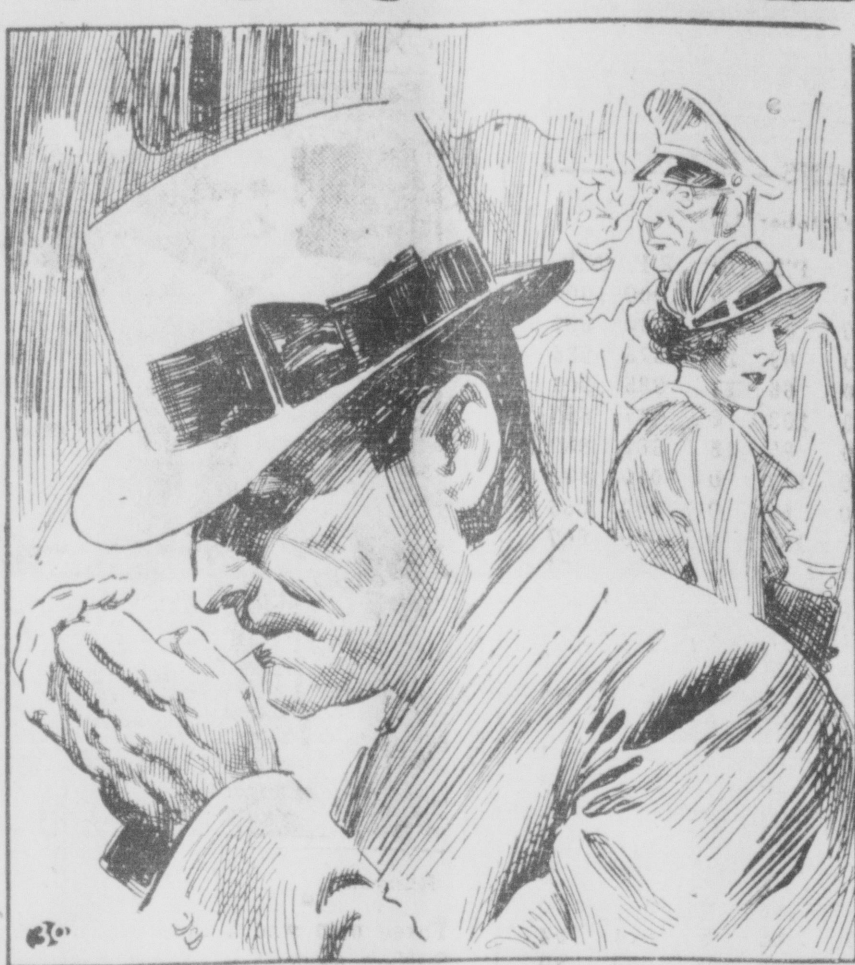

The pause before he answered seemed very long to her. Did she care so much then?

"Yes. The news was a surprise to me."

She tried to think back over the months she had known him to that very beginning. She remembered that she had deliberately made him feel that she had no money. He had tried to help her get a job. Would he have done that, had he known she had money? What had happened before Isabel's wedding? What might have made him propose then?

She didn't know but she was afraid to trust what she hoped was the truth.

"I didn't lie to you, Gary," she said then. "I simply didn't tell you I had

Yes, things were different.

It. The money never made any difference to me, it never made me any happier. I've had more fun since I forgot I had any."

"Then it does change things," he said when they had turned into Sutton place.

"How?" she asked crisply.

"After my unfortunate lightness regarding Kathy and . . . and marriage in general tonight you ought to know the answer to your own question."

"I'm being dull," she said and waited.

"No, Carol, you're never dull or unintelligent. You're wise, charming, natural and sweet. And different from any other girl I've ever known. You've made a different person of me. I'll always be grateful for that and glad to have met you."

"What do you mean by that?" he turned to her with his old happy grin.

"You sound as though you weren't ever going to see me again."

"Of course I am," he said, but there were other things he might have said and didn't.

Carol felt that she was treading on dangerous ground. "Does that mean that you've changed your feeling about me?"

"Possibly," he said.

Carol couldn't ask him to explain that but she wanted him to, she wanted him to say that he hadn't changed in his feeling toward her, she wanted him to say . . . no she didn't want him to say that he still wanted her to marry him. The fact that he didn't say it made her feel happier, much happier, but she didn't question the reason why it should.

"All right, we'll change the subject. No more personalities. I'll go on forgetting that I have any money and you'll forget you ever heard it."

"I won't be able to do that," he said, "but if it makes you happier, you forget it."

"Will you come up?" she asked when they came to her place.

"Not tonight, thank you. Good-night, little Carol." She turned to watch him walk across the street.

Yes, things were different. She realized that. It was all there in the tone of his last good-night.

Later that night, when she had packed a little dressing case with clean uniforms and an extra frock or two and the things she would need for the week, she slipped into a negligee and turning on the lights, curled up on the window-seat to watch the black serpent below that was the river.

"Things happen awfully fast for you, my girl," she said to herself, thinking of the things that had happened to her in so few short months.

TELLING HIM HOW SLOW

The train, as usual, was crawling along at snail's pace—and then stopping dead. "Conductor," shouted a passenger, "can I get out and pick some flowers?"

"I'm afraid that you won't find any flowers around here," said the conductor, good naturedly.

"Oh, there's plenty of time," responded the jovial passenger. "I brought a package of seeds along."

WHO CARES?

The Hollywood magnate told an assistant that in his opinion a certain writer was the only man for a film they had under consideration. The assistant was tactfully doubtful.

In the days of silent pictures, J. P. McGowan was the director of many hair-raising serials such as the enormously popular railroad chapter-play, "The Hazards of Helen." McGowan comes to the Grand theatre on Saturday as a high officer in the Royal North-west Mounted Police in "Border Brigands," the thrilling Universal drama starring Buck Jones.

Head-On Collision Over Neutrality Laws Brewing Behind the Scenes.

WASHINGTON—A head-on collision over neutrality legislation is brewing behind the scenes. The present law expires February 29. Meanwhile the State Department is at work on a bill, to be offered as the Administration's measure, which would give the President wide discretionary power. On the other hand, Senators Nye, Bone, Clark, authors of the original neutrality proposals, plan to renew their demand for a law mandatorily banning munitions, loans and war materials of all kinds to foreign belligerents . . . Floyd Dell, widely known novelist, is the latest addition to the WPA's writers' division . . . If Chairman Henry Fletcher has his way, the meeting of the Republican National Committee, tentatively scheduled for early December, will not be held in Washington. Fletcher favors a mid-western city, first because it is more centrally located, second because the atmosphere of the Capital is too Democratic . . . After much uncertainty, the Federal Trade Commission finally has been supplied with funds to start the Senate-ordered nation-wide probe of food prices. An appropriation of $150,000 to make the survey was contemplated, but Huey Long's filibuster of the deficiency bill prevented the grant. After several months of searching the Budget Bureau found a way to make $75,000 available to the FTC, which will suffice until Congress meets.

Going Going -----?

The inner circle is buzzing with a report that Madame Secretary Perkins soon may retire from the cabinet. Her absence from Washington for nearly two months is lending strong color to the whisper. Reports are that Miss Perkins is being tempted with the job of heading a nationally-known college. However, the rumor should be taken with a grain of salt. Miss Perkins is ardently attached to her job and proud of her high official eminence . . . Employees of the Works Progress Administration have been instructed never to refer to the McLean mansion, recently rented for office space by Harry Hopkins. Instead, they must use "1500 Eye Street." Even verbal use of "McLean mansion" is frowned on . . . A drive to line up the lawyers of the country against the Administrative has been quietly launched by the Liberty League. The entire membership of the American Bar Association is being circularized with application blanks to join the League's committee of lawyers which "handed down" an unofficial opinion holding the Wagner labor disputes act unconstitutional . . . A snappy long-distance telephone call from the Federal Alcohol Administration the other day, caused an eastern brewery hastily to withdraw a full-page advertisement that carried a picture of the President and the line: "Mr. President, we thank you."

Poems That Live

ON THE SUSSEX DOWNS

"Lured," little one? Nay, you've but heard
 Love o'er your wild downs roaming;

Not lured, my bird, my light, swift bird,
 But homing—homing.

"Caught," does she feel? Nay, no not stirred
 To catch the heart fore-fated;

Not caught, my bird, my bright, wild bird,
 But mated—mated.

And "caged," she fears? Nay, never that word
 Of where your brown head rested;

Not caged, my bird, my shy, sweet bird,
 But nested—nested!

How This Body of Ours Functions, Told Simply

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IF WE TAKE a human body and eliminate from it, theoretically, such processes as the processes of thought and such things as the functions of reproduction of its kind, and growth and replacement of waste, and repair of wounds—

—if, in short, we eliminate the processes the nature of which we know nothing about (which is true of thought), and the building up of new tissue—we find that the body is merely an engine for the production of energy.

The energy arises from the combustion of food products, just as the energy of an automobile arises from the combustion of gasoline.

And, as in any engine, the chemical conversion of one form of energy into another results in the formation of certain by-products. Thus in the automobile, the chemical by-products of the combustion of gasoline come out of the exhaust—for one thing, the deadly carbon monoxide gas. Just what the nature of these chemical processes in the human body are, we will consider in the articulate this week on the chemistry of exercise.

There is, however, another by-product of the work of an energy machine, and that is heat.

The combustion of food—that is, its chemical union with oxygen—goes on continuously in the body, and a delicate regulatory mechanism keeps the body at the even temperature of about 98.2° F.

All of the processes—both the building up of heat and its dissipation by the body, and the chemical interchanges of various kinds—which go to make up the machinery of the body, are called "metabolism." The sum of all of them is called "basal metabolism," and this can be easily measured.

The first experiments in trying to measure basal metabolism took the amount of heat an animal gave off as a standard. The animal—a cat or guinea pig—was placed in a vessel surrounded by ice. After a certain length of time the amount of ice that had melted was measured; as the number of calories required to heat a given amount of ice is well known, it was easy to calculate the amount of heat given off by the animal.

More modern instruments have improved on this old calorimeter and use the amount of oxygen consumed as the measuring rod of basal metabolism.

The measurement of basal metabolism is very useful in diagnosis in certain cases. It is known that certain forms of fever raise the basal metabolic rate very greatly.

Coach Jack Landrum, disappointed and disheartened by the showing of his gridders, said over the telephone last night: "Don't give us any alibi, we just played rotten football."

EAST OVER NORTH
Columbus East has taken a long lead in the city grid chase by whipping North, 38-0. What we can't figure is how these Columbus teams are rated so tough but lose to nearly every team they play when they get outside Columbus.

TO ARRANGE SCHEDULE
Next year's high school football schedule will be arranged quite differently if Principal Reger and Coach Landrum get their say with CBL officials in arranging the schedule. This year three games were played at home, then three on the road and that is not good—Next Friday the Tigers travel to Bexley then they play Marysville at home.

NOTRE DAME AND OHIO
Just for fun we'll pick Notre Dame over Pittsburgh by two touchdowns, and Ohio over Northwestern at least three. Both games are on the airways.

FAVOR BUCKS DESPITE SIZE OF INVADERS

Dye to Get Call at Quarter; Swisher, Cruice, Toth, Duval in 'Cat Backfield

COLUMBUS, Oct. 19—Possessing plenty of speed and weight, and eager for action after enjoying an open date last week-end, Coach Lynn Waldorf's Northwestern football squad today was prepared to furnish Ohio State's grid juggernaut with its first Western Conference competition of the current season.

Approximately 43,000 fans were expected in Ohio stadium for the clash which will be the second Big Ten encounter for the invaders. Purdue defeated the Purple, 7 to 0, two weeks ago.

Ohio Outweighed
Although outweighed five pounds per man on the line and 11 pounds to the men in the starting backfield, the Buckeyes ranked as heavy favorites to defeat the Evanston, Ill. players.

Fortified with a great array of backfield talent, the Wildcats were expected to unloose some spectacular playing against Coach Francis Schmidt's squad which defeated Kentucky, 19 to 6, and crushed Drake, 85 to 7, in its first two starts.

Bob Swisher and Wally Cruice were expected to start at the half-back posts for Northwestern with Steve Toth at quarterback and Duval taking care of the fullback duties.

Ohio's backfield will probably be composed of Tippy Dye, diminutive quarterback, John Bettridge and Dick Heekin, halfbacks, and

Frank Antenucci at fullback to start the contest.

Stan Pincura, Ohio's regular quarterback, has been nursing an injured back and will be used only in case of dire necessity. Jumping Joe Williams, spectacular halfback, and Jim McDonald, both sophomores, are expected to see plenty of action in the Buckeye backfield.

The starting Scarlet forward wall, with the return of Charley Hamrick, will be the same as the one which opened the season for the Schmidt team.

DEATH FOR AN EDELWEISS
MUNICH—Seeking to pick an almost inaccessible edelweiss blossom "for his mother," a 26-year-old Bavarian fell from an alpine cliff to death. Frank Kinker was climbing Mount Aggenstein in the German Alps with some comrades when he saw a sheer rock edelweiss halfway up a sheer cliff. Just as his hand was reaching for the blossom a fall of rocks made him lose his hold and he toppled to the valley below.

NATURE PRESENTS—Common Tree Frog

This entertaining acrobat of the frog world is a familiar creature during the summer months who later disappears for his long winter's nap in the cozy hollow of a tree trunk. His call, much like the loud purring of a cat, is heard often before storms and so he has been accepted as a weather prophet, though not especially reliable. The tree frog's toes help him to recover his balance after an aerial leap for an insect. He is most active at dusk and at night.

KILLS FIVE-YEAR-OLD SON TRYING TO BREAK UP LOVE TRIANGLE

Bobby Hartley in hospital

"Daddy, please come home with me and play with us on the floor," little Betty Hartley begs her father, Arthur Hartley, 30, through the bars of his cell in a San Francisco jail. But Daddy can't come home, Betty, for he is charged with killing your little brother, Bobby, five with a bullet meant for another. According to police, Hartley assertedly fired at a man who he believed sought the affections of Mrs. Hartley. Bobby, who is shown above in hospital just before he died, was in the line of fire. The man, Samuel Baker, 39, was wounded.

TWO KILLED

County officers were unable to learn the cause of the accident, but reported the motorcycles, collided. All riders were cut and bruised.

A large truck owned by the Case Driving Inc., Huntington, W. Va., and driven by M. A. Pye, 22, went into a ditch to avoid striking the overturned motorcycles. The truck was not badly damaged.

County officers received the report at 12:15 a. m. Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell and State Patrolman Alexander investigated.

A Desoto sedan driven by Kenneth Finks, Groveport, was damaged Friday night when it went into a ditch at an intersection on Long-st, north of Ashville.

County officers said Finks went into the ditch to avoid striking a Dodge touring car driven by Emerson Neff, Ashville. The drivers were alone in the cars. Finks was uninjured.

Most far-flung of all AAA prospects areas ranging from Florida to the state of Washington, from Minnesota to Louisiana, from Ohio to California. The program also affects important insular areas which fly the American flag—the Philippine Islands, the Territory of Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

SAFETY SAMMY SAYS By E. Geo. Green

TO MOTORISTS: When approaching a "bottle-neck" or any similar traffic jam, where two or more lanes of traffic are forced to merge into single file, — TAKE YOUR TURN instead of attempting to crowd someone else out of his or her legitimate place.

REMEMBER: IF ALL MOTORISTS WOULD CONSIDER AND PRACTISE THIS SIMPLE RULE OF COMMON COURTESY THERE WOULD BE FEWER ACCIDENTS AND A MORE CONSISTENT MOVEMENT OF TRAFFIC

BRITAIN GIVES IL DUCE MONTH

Must End War in That Time or Face Further Action,
Geneva Hears

GENEVA, Oct. 19.—Great Britain will give Premier Benito Mussolini until the end of November to halt his invasion of Ethiopia, according to rumors in League of Nations circles today.

Then, if the league's economic and financial sanctions have failed to arrest the advance of the Italian troops in East Africa, the British are expected to ask the league council to reconvene and study further sanctions—"further sanctions" necessarily meaning sanctions of a military nature.

Would Use Fleet
The British as yet do not desire to go this far. They hope the sanctions presently being undertaken in Geneva and the conversations going on in London, Paris, and Rome will halt Il Duce.

But if they fail, Britain—with full league approval—will be ready to use the great fleet she has assembled in the Mediterranean for carrying out league sanctions.

And she hopes, she will be aided in this by France and by the French fleet.

It was stressed, however, that league approval and French support now are essential to such action by Britain. The action will be pressed by the end of next month if Il Duce by then has not checked his advance into Ethiopia.

QUAKE HITS NORTHWEST

Helena, Mont. Center of Damage; Several States Feel Earth Shaking

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 19.—Thousands of Helena residents remained panic-stricken today as earth rumblings continued to jolt the city after a night of terror following a severe earthquake that took one life, caused minor injuries to a score of persons and resulted in property damage estimated as high as $1,000,000.

City officials said probably 25 buildings were either demolished or damaged. Stocks in stores were strewn about the streets. Bricks, mortar and debris was piled two feet high in the upper end of the business section where the shock caused greatest damage.

Dave Harris, a negro, was found dead under a pile of brick. As the severe shock, one of the series of more than 60 in the past week, rocked the city, chimneys swayed and fell; building walls collapsed and heavy plate glass crashed.

The shock that brought heavy damage to Helena was felt in nearly all sections of Montana, in Yellowstone Park, Wyo., in Idaho and to the west as far as Seattle, Wash.

Adding to the panic and confusion of the populace, the city light plant failed and Helena was in complete darkness for several hours.

JURY SPARES ZENGE'S LIFE

26 - Year - Old Emasculation
Slayer Voted Life Term
in Illinois Prison

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—For his mad, uncontrolled jealousy, Mandeville Zenge, 26-year-old, Missouri carpenter, today faced a bleak future behind penitentiary walls.

A jury found him guilty last night of the strange emasculation-murder of his successful rival for the hand of his childhood sweetheart, fixed the punishment at life imprisonment.

His aged father shook as if withague when the finding was read. Other relatives from his native Missouri hills wept and wrung their hands, but this enigmatic young man whose wild emotions led him to perpetrate the strange and horrible crime, received the verdict without so much as the flicker of an eyelid.

His only reaction was annoyance at being awakened from a sound nap on a hard bench in the cell outside the courtroom, as word came that the jury was ready.

He stalked into the courtroom, tall, straight, tight-lipped, heard the verdict, and stalked out with the bailiffs.

Taken back to the jail the night attendant asked the love-mad youth what the verdict was.

Zenge shrugged his shoulders unchalantly, answered:

"I got life."

He entered his cell, retired, and immediately dropped off into a sound sleep.

Many Visit New Office Of Herald

Many visitors to the Pumpkin show in its final day were taking advantage of "open house" at The Herald office, touring the plant, watching intertypes and press in operation, and obtaining a general idea of the operation of a newspaper.

The Herald's new quarters, 210 N. Court-st., has been attracting much attention all week.

Pretty floral tributes from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Southern Ohio Electric Co., and Bremner Greenhouses were received.

Here's a Pumpkin show visitor who likes just about everything. His letter reads:

"I visited your plant Wednesday and bought a copy of The Herald. I think it is one fine newspaper. Its scope is quite surprising for a small city paper."

"Your Pumpkin show is about the best thing I've ever seen. It is a more complete exposition than some large fairs I have seen this year."

"The people of Circleville must be okay-dokey. I noticed in the baby parade that the folks lining the streets applauded impartially for colored and white babies. One of the mothers was so cute applauded her instead of the baby. Hot dog!"

"I never knew before that Circleville was so fortunate as to be both an industrial and yet an agricultural center. Most towns are either one or the other and so suffer from seasonal let-downs."

"Well, I certainly enjoyed my half day spent in your town and wish I could have remained for your Elks club dance."

Yours sincerely,
LEWIS CARL DAVIS,
Milford Center, Ohio."

About 25 employees of the Lazarus store, Columbus, were Pumpkin show guests of Mary May Haswell Friday evening. Many of them had never attended a Pumpkin show before and all had a good time. Miss Haswell fed them pumpkin pie, fitting for the occasion, at her home.

Stoutsville's fine high school band journeyed to Circleville Friday and took part in the Industrial and Character parades.

W. S. Gearhart is the possessor of a fine picture of the fruit display in the 1916 Pumpkin show. He is shown with his aides, Willard Justus and I. A. Jones. The picture was also published in the magazine of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Co.

James O'Dell of Stoutsville won the trophy for having the best coon dog at the Lancaster fair last week.

Mangers of the fancy work display, experienced through long service, announced today there were nearly 400 entrants in the exhibition, and termed it the best in years. The results are found in today's Herald.

EDITORIAL

What does Halloween mean and should it be celebrated is the question in the minds of the people today. Some people say emphatically no, and some say enthusiastically yes.

Every year at this time, appearing in many papers are the don'ts and do's of the Witch's night, also warnings of the consequence of certain practices.

Hallowe'en in the past meant Holy Eve. It was a time set aside to honor the memory of all saints. About thirteen centuries ago pagans celebrated November 1 as all Saints' Day. Then spirits, both good and evil, were believed to be on earth.

Even after the pagans adopted Christianity, they still carried on many of their customs, and so the Hallowe'en activities of today are ones which originated centuries ago.

Hallowe'en, the evening of October 31, for young people is a time for gaily and pranks, a time to be witches, ghosts, and fairies. For others Hallowe'en is just a night before the day of hunting their property, and washing windows.

This occasion calls to the minds of many the building of bonfires, cracking of nuts, bobbing for apples floating in tubs of water, telling fortunes and ghost stories, throwing corn and soaping windows.

I say, yes, we should celebrate the occasion. If you do not think so go out that night with a party of friends who are "tackling." The crisp wind blowing through the trees, the brightly colored leaves falling all around you.

It is a grand feeling. A feeling that Mother Nature is beautiful, the world is a "swell" place, and that life is worth living.

student opinion

Question: Is the Pumpkin Show an asset to Circleville?

GAIL DAUENHAUER, freshman: The Pumpkin Show promotes goodwill between Circleville and other nearby communities. It tends to bring more fame to Circleville, as well as more money for charity.

The exhibition work gives many people, old and young, a chance to show the worth-while things they can do.

SOPHOMORE HOME ROOM 17: The Pumpkin Show is an asset because it tends to make the farmers work harder to raise better crops.

It brings money to Circleville by renting space. It increases business and gives the business men a chance to display their merchandise.

It brings people together, and makes the farmers more Circleville-conscious. It creates general good feeling.

ROSEMARY HAMMEL, junior: The Pumpkin Show is and has always been considered by the merchants of Circleville an asset. They base their belief on the fact that during the week of Pumpkin Show the stores of Circleville remain open during both day and evening.

At this time extra help is needed in the stores, assuring us of more employment. We may say that the merchant sponsors the Pumpkin Show and the Pumpkin Show in return benefits him.

FAYE ELLIOT, junior: As a citizen of Circleville, I oppose having Circleville Pumpkin Show. It should not be carried on because it clutters up the streets and they remain dirty for days after the affair.

School children spend the money that they need for school supplies for side shows and rides. People who are perhaps on relief or people who need money for necessities at home will foolishly spend that money, which they may have saved, and live in poverty for the next few weeks.

It is a moral liability because of the increased number of drunks, etc.

ANNE THACHER, senior: People from all corners of the state come to the Circleville Pumpkin Show. This brings "pecunia" to Circleville which would not have found its way here otherwise. It also gains Circleville popularity and notoriety.

EDNA SHAW, senior: I believe the Pumpkin Show is an asset to the citizens of Circleville.

This affair is not only a customary and enjoyable event but has an educational value if one will look at it in that manner.

The Pumpkin Show benefits the community hotels. People come from other states to see the fair and they must have some place to stay.

HILARITY RULES E. M. S. INITIATION

With mussed hair and no cosmetics, dresses wrong side out, shoes on wrong feet, football heroes with baby bottles, papers circulating around telling of these wonderful (?) specimens of humanity, are a few of the spectacles seen by persons who came to school Tuesday morning. It was part of the results of the E. M. S. initiation the night before.

A dinner, consisting of creamed chicken in patties, buttered potatoes, peas, waldorf salad, hot rolls, tea and pumpkin pie with whipped cream was served by Ann Denman, Jessie Dresbach, Alice Griner and Mary Ellen Macey.

The initiates first showed their ignorance by being unable to answer questions on English grammar and literature.

Then much "dirt" was learned when the initiates were forced to answer questions by use of the "electric chair."

The initiation committee included Tillie Davis, Jane Littleton, Marjorie Mader and Anne Vierebome.

The newly initiated members are Wahnie Barnhart, Dorothy Beatty, Eleanor Brown, Ruby Chaffin, Nana Cooper, Emily Gunning, Richard Harman, Donald Henry, Clark Hunsicker, Burn Jones, Kate Moore, Virginia Phillips, Thelma Piper, Pauline Reed, Ruth Robinson, Evelyn Ward and Lucille Weaver.

William Ammer, president of the club presided at the meeting and welcomed the new members into the organization.

Origin of the Pumpkin Show

Thirty-two years ago a business man of Circleville, Mayor George R. Haswell, conceived the idea of a street fair.

Since we did not have a park or a public fair ground where the people, young and old, could gather to have a good time, Mr. Haswell said, "Why not use the streets, and have a fair for everyone?"

Several other business and professional men approved of the idea. The stores were decorated, tables built, a few prizes, especially for pumpkins were given, and the success of the first show gave it a secure place in the events of the year.

As the years have passed, more prizes have been made, more prizes given, free acts added, rides etc.

CIRCLEVILLE PUMPKIN SHOW

Call all your friends together. Invite them all to come. Remind them of the Pumpkin show Circleville's week of fun. Let every heart be happy now. Enjoy our annual Fair. Visit with your kinkfolks. Immune from every care. Linger to see the last free act. Let the children ride the swings. Entertain the many visitors. Pumpkin show always brings. Unite with all the farmer folks. Make each one feel at home. Procure a program of the Show. Kindly give your neighbor one. Indeed we'll have a row to hoe. No one must miss the fun. See everything there is to see. Help out in every way. Oh, how happy we will be. When we greet each opening day!

REAL JAILBIRD LOVES KITTEN

Blue, the cat, and Chirps, the bird

This is the story of two jailbirds, one a real jailbird in the Folsom prison, at Folsom, Cal. Jailbirds as a class, say criminologists, have no love for cats. But this jailbird, Chirps by name, has more than love for another jailbird, a kitten called Blue. The kitten and the bird, a linnet, were born in the prison and took a liking for each other. So much so that the two jailbirds live together, eat together and sleep together.

"An ancient philosopher once said to a friend of his, 'I am always strong when I am near you.' On the road of life there is always need for such helpful friendships. It is great to be a helpful friend, the kind of Upper Road friend that folks will be glad to meet because of your friendly interest your radiating personality, and your unselfishness. Your presence will be as helpful and exhilarating as the sunshine. A woman who held many important positions said her was when her mother said to her one day, 'It always seems like seeing the sunshine to see you.' If you choose to follow the Upper Road and you will become that kind of a friend." from Katherine Logan. The church stands for this ideal of friendship. Go to church tomorrow. Take a friend.

The Church Invites You

© 1935 D. CARL YODER

To be true to one's best nature; to give place in one's life to ities; to find together what no one can find alone; to discover, as the ancient adoring habit of the race; to requite the Love that will not let one go; to feed that best within one without which life would be a poor thing; to be in the company of one's fellows; to see one's social duty in relation to life's increasing responsibility; a group of worshipping believers, God's idea for the world—that is the value of church attendance. Why not accept the invitation, and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

500,000 MICE ON MARCH
FOOCHOW—An army of mice, estimated at between 30,000 and 50,000, invaded the town of Schengchong, in Fukien. They were moving from their home in a cave near Schengchong to another some miles distant, and marched through the town in orderly formation. Cats and dogs ran for shelter, while most of the inhabitants of the town took refuge behind locked doors. Twelve hours passed before the last of the mice had left the town, having devoured huge quantities of food on the way.

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 17—Coach Stub Allison of the University of California football team picked the Santa Clara Broncos today to win Saturday's football classic at Memorial stadium. However, in Santa Clara valley, Coach Clipper Smith of the Broncos matched Allison's statement with: "We've won three straight victories over the Golden Bear—but we've never had to meet a Bear like this one. It looks like defeat for us."

World Religious News

Reformation Sunday, November 3, will be observed this year by thousands of Protestants who are in the midst of one of the gravest crises ever experienced by the Christian church. The church-state struggle in Germany has entailed conflicts of conscience between the Christian and the citizen.

The 250th anniversary of the revocation of the Edict of the Nantes falls on October 23rd. It is interesting to note that whereas 250 years ago thousands of French refugees found asylum in Germany and England, today France is receiving thousands of Jewish refugees from Germany and hundreds of non-Jewish exiles are scattered all over Europe. As for the fate of all religious believers in Russia, it is comparable to that of the Waldensians a hundred and fifty years ago.

The Ohio Council of Churches is conducting its eleventh annual Prince of Peace Declaration Contest. In the ten previous contests 17,000 Ohio boys and girls have delivered peace messages before audiences aggregating more than 500,000. The influence of this wide spread discussion can hardly be estimated as a factor in the education program in behalf of world peace. Winners of the contests receive cash prizes plus scholarships in various Ohio colleges.

The communicant membership of the Presbyterian church in the United States is now 1,959,923 according to the annual statistics of the church recently published. The number of ordained clergymen on the rolls of the Presbyteries is 9,901. Contributions of the local churches totalled $35,718,531. Of this amount $24,785,978 was used for local congregational expenses.

Home Education

Christ's Influence Today.

The potential influence of Christ in the lives of men today is seen in the following statement by Dr. Robert E. Spear: "He gives me a clearer moral vision and the courage to try to live by that vision. He gives me the desire to work in the world as intensely as He worked. He kindles me when I grow sluggish or indifferent, a positive and aggressive antagonism to evil within and without."

He gives me confidence in the truth and so helps me to rest, no matter what happens in the world, because I know that God and the Truth must prevail. He counterbalances as I cannot, the variable circumstances and unequal conditions of life, and takes care of the excesses that are beyond me.

He gives me strength to try at least things that I know are impossible and to attempt first of all the things that are hardest to be done. He helps me refuse to do good when I know that something better can be done. He helps me to keep on when I have to, even tho I cannot.

He saves me from the fret and killing of pride and vanity, and helps me to cease to care for the things that make people sick. He helps me to keep the central things clear and not to be befogged and broken down by the accessories and secondary things."

Church Forum

IS THE INDEBTEDNESS OF ORGANIZED RELIGION A POSSIBLE PERIL? The indebtedness situation overpublicized for an occasional church enterprise, compares more than favorably with that of other organized life. In 1926 the proportion of indebtedness against the valuation of church property, that is to say of edifices alone, used for religious purposes was only 11.2 percent. It has been estimated that the percentage of indebtedness may have doubled under pressure of the depression, but a study, recently of the fifty largest bodies comprising 97 percent of all of the membership of organized religion in the United States disclosed the fact that there had been apparently little change in the proportion and that while here and there individual churches had shown poor financial judgement or been caught by distressing circumstances, organized religion as a whole was in an extraordinary sound property situation.

The Message of Jeremiah ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Jeremiah 7:1-26.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell and Alfred J. Buscher

So wicked had God's people become in the days of Jeremiah that God commanded Jeremiah to stand at the temple door and preach to them as they entered, warning them against the sin of worshipping with insincere hearts.

The people came in great throngs saying piously over and over, "The Temple of the Lord," while guilty of murder, stealing, lying and adultery Jeremiah said they were trying to hide in the temple as robbers in their den.

Jeremiah denounced these people for raising their children in sin. "The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to other gods."

Despite all of the prophet's pleading and warning the people went on in their sinful ways and Jeremiah felt that his ministry was a failure.

NATURE PRESENTS Common Tree Frog

WHERE FOUND
Eastern North America as far west as Kansas and south into Texas.

CHARACTERISTICS
Two inches long; stout body with short, broad head; skin covered with coarse tubercles. Color—varying through many shades of green, gray or brown; dark markings indistinct or lacking; oblique dark band on top of head.

TODAY'S DRAWING LESSON

This entertaining acrobat of the frog world is a familiar creature during the summer months who later disappears for his long winter's nap in the cozy hollow of a tree trunk. His call, much like the loud purring of a cat, is heard often before storms and so he has been accepted as a weather prophet, though not especially reliable. The tree frog's toes help him to recover his balance after an aerial leap for an insect. He is most active at dusk and at night.

WESTERVILLE DRUBS TIGERS IN 53-0 TILT

Local Team Lacks Everything in Taking 46-0 Beating in First Half

The high school Tigers were unable to cope with Westerville's hard driving attack in the first half of their Central Buckeye league game, Friday, and lost a 53 to 0 decision, the most decisive scored against them this year.

The game was played in the Otterbein college town and marks the continuation of the Westerville winning streak and the Tigers' losing efforts.

The first period ended 27-0 with Westerville scoring after three plays, then on a pass good for 10 yards, next on an end sweep, then on a pass interception and a 44-yard run by Parker.

Behind 46 at Half
The end of the half saw the score 46-0 with Westerville again hitting the goal line for touchdowns after a blocked punt, a lateral pass, and another end run.

Westerville used its second, third and fourth teams through the greater part of the second half but still the Tigers could go nowhere nor were they able to stop the offensive plays of the team that is now in the favored spot to take the league championship. Some hope is seen for the Tigers, however, in the fact that Westerville defeated Marysville only one touchdown less than it did the Tigers.

In other Central Buckeye league games Friday Grandview continued its drive with an 18-6 decision over Marysville. Bexley and Delaware tied at 6-all, leaving the Bobcats and Westerville tied for the league leadership. On their game will hinge the outcome of the race.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 19.—Possessing plenty of speed and weight, and eager for action after enjoying an open date last week-end, Coach Lynn Waldorf's Northwestern football squad today was prepared to furnish Ohio State's grid juggernaut with its first Western Conference competition of the current season.

Approximately 43,000 fans were expected in Ohio stadium for the clash which will be the second Big Ten encounter for the invaders. Purdue defeated the Purple, 7 to 0, two weeks ago.

Ohio Outweighed

Although outweighed five pounds per man on the line and 11 pounds to the men in the starting backfield, the Buckeyes ranked as heavy favorites to defeat the Evanston, Ill., players.

Fortified with a great array of backfield talent, the Wildcats were expected to unloose some spectacular playing against Coach Francis Schmidt's squad which defeated Kentucky, 19 to 6, and crushed Drake, 85 to 7, in its first two starts.

Bob Swisher and Wally Cruise were expected to start at the half-back posts for Northwestern with Steve Toth at quarterback and Duvall taking care of the fullback duties.

Ohio's backfield will probably be composed of Tippy Dye, diminutive quarterback, John Bettridge and Dick Heekin, halfbacks, and

Frank Antenucci at fullback to start the contest.

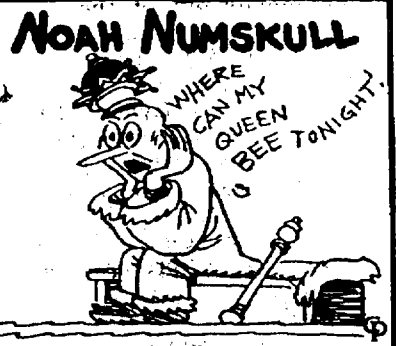

Stan Pincura, Ohio's regular quarterback, has been nursing an injured back and will be used only in case of dire necessity. Jumping Joe Williams, spectacular half-back, and Jim McDonald, both sophomores, are expected to see plenty of action in the Buckeye backfield.

The starting Scarlet forward wall, with the return of Charley Hamrick, will be the same as the one which opened the season for the Schmidt team.

DEATH FOR AN EDELWEISS
MUNICH—Seeking to pick an almost inaccessible edelweiss blossom "for his mother," a 26-year-old Bavarian fell from an alpine cliff to death. Frank Kinker was climbing Mount Aggenstein in the German Alps with some comrades when he saw a rare edelweiss halfway up a sheer cliff. Just as his hand was reaching for the blossom a fall of rocks made him lose his hold and he toppled to the valley below.

KILLS FIVE-YEAR-OLD SON TRYING TO BREAK UP LOVE TRIANGLE

Bobby Hartley in hospital

"Daddy, please come home with me and play with us on the floor," little Betty Hartley begs her father, Arthur Hartley, 30, through the bars of his cell in a San Francisco jail. But Daddy can't come home, Betty, for he is charged with killing your little brother, Bobby, five with a bullet meant for another. According to police, Hartley assertedly fired at a man who he believed sought the affections of Mrs. Hartley. Bobby, who is shown above in hospital just before he died, was in the line of fire. The man, Samuel Baker, 39, was wounded.

TWO KILLED

County officers were unable to learn the cause of the accident, but reported the motorcycles, collided. All riders were cut and bruised.

A large truck owned by the Case Driving Inc., Huntington, W. Va., and driven by M. A. Pyke, 22, went into a ditch to avoid striking the overturned motorcycles. The truck was not badly damaged.

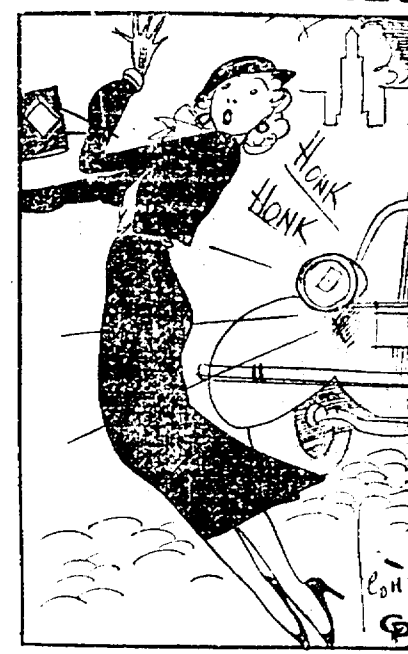

County officers received the report at 12:15 a. m. Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell and State Patrolman Alexander investigated.

A Desoto sedan driven by Kenneth Finks, Groveport, was damaged Friday night when it went into a ditch at an intersection on Long-st, north of Ashville.

County officers said Finks went into the ditch to avoid striking a Dodge touring car driven by Emerson Neff, Ashville. The drivers were alone in the cars. Finks was uninjured.

Most far-flung of all AAA prospects areas ranging from Florida to the state of Washington, from Minnesota to Louisiana, from Ohio to California. The program also affects important insular areas which fly the American flag—the Philippine Islands, the Territory of Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

SAFETY SAMMY SAYS By E. Geo. Green

TO MOTORISTS: When approaching a "bottle-neck" or any similar traffic jam, where two or more lanes of traffic are forced to merge into single file, — TAKE YOUR TURN instead of attempting to crowd someone else out of his or her legitimate place.

REMEMBER: IF ALL MOTORISTS WOULD CONSIDER AND PRACTISE THIS SIMPLE RULE OF COMMON COURTESY THERE WOULD BE FEWER ACCIDENTS AND A MORE CONSISTENT MOVEMENT OF TRAFFIC.
